

DRANK ACID AND DIED SUNDAY AFTER-NOON AT 1:30

Woman, Out of Work and in Bad Health, Drinks Carbolic Acid—Miss Craycraft Died at 1:30 Sunday Afternoon.

Miss Abbie Craycraft, aged about 40 years, native of the Sardis neighborhood, committed suicide at the Poe boarding house in Front street early Saturday evening by drinking about an ounce of carbolic acid. She died at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

An employee of the boarding house passed Miss Craycraft's room at about 7 o'clock Saturday evening and heard her groaning. Entering the room, the woman was found rolling about on the bed and on the floor nearby was found an empty one ounce vial which had contained carbolic acid. Two letters were found on a stand in the center of the room. One of the letters was directed to Miss Craycraft's mother and another to her former room mate. In the letter to her mother, Miss Craycraft urged her mother not to worry over her death. This letter follows:

"My health is bad and I can't work, so I don't want to get down and be a sufferer. I want to be buried in white at Shannon. I don't want you to grieve after me for it would be cruel. I do not want any funeral or flowers. Love and kisses. Yours, ABBIE."

Miss Craycraft has been out of work sometime and had been in bad health. This is thought to have been the cause of her rash act. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Craycraft of Sardis and is survived by her parents and two brothers.

The body was removed to the home of her parents and her request will be carried out and she will be buried at Shannon at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

TWO COMMUNITIES WANT NEW CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS

Minerva and Lewisburg Made Formal Application to County School Board in Session Here Monday.

Two communities in Mason county are anxious for new Consolidated schools, it became known Monday at the regular monthly meeting of the Mason County Board of Education held at the office of County Superintendent George H. Turnipseed.

The boosters for the new Minerva schools, reported that at a meeting of those interested held on Friday evening at Minerva, steps were taken for the organization of a financing corporation. Stock is now being sold and it is likely that steps will be taken within the next few weeks to decide on plans and begin the erection of a new building this year.

The county board was given a surprise when a delegation from Lewisburg appeared before the board and let that body know that Lewisburg too was wanting a consolidated school. These Lewisburg boosters stated that they were expecting to launch at once a movement to finance the erection of a first class consolidated school building.

No other important business aside from these new school projects, was brought before the board. Nothing but routine business was transacted.

BLUEGRASS LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED AT LEXINGTON MEET

Schedule To Be Adopted at Meeting to Be Held in Maysville Next Thursday Evening—Circuit to Have Six Clubs.

Lexington, March 6. — Final steps in the reorganization of the Blue Grass Baseball League were taken at a meeting held at the Phoenix hotel yesterday afternoon, Lexington, Maysville, Paris and Cynthiana are charter members of the circuit, but six franchises have been asked from the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, and Mt. Sterling and Winchester probably will be included in the league at a later date.

All games will be played on Thursdays and Sundays. The season will open on April 23 and close on October 12, each team playing 50 games.

A schedule committee, composed of Dr. J. H. Hutchings, of Maysville; B. F. Goodman, of Paris; J. S. Linehan, of Cynthiana, and J. S. Morton was named to submit separate schedules to President Thomas M. Russell of Maysville. Mr. Russell is to select one of these, which will be adopted as the official schedule of the circuit.

The next meeting of the league will be held at Maysville next Thursday night. The schedule is to be adopted at this gathering, and Mt. Sterling is to submit an answer on whether or not it will come into the circuit. The Montgomery county seat, it is understood, is practically certain to become a member of the organization, and is only waiting the approval of the Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce.

The management of the Winchester club has hesitated about entering, on account of its objection to playing on Thursdays instead of Saturdays, but the organizers of the league are confident the Clark county magnates will come to terms.

The league has applied for six franchises, despite the fact that two of the towns have not finally decided to enter. In case either Mt. Sterling or Winchester should refuse to enter the circuit, the extra franchise probably would be located in some other Blue Grass city.

A number of minor details remain to be threshed out, but these probably will be settled at the meeting Thursday. Among these are the selection of an official ball, the question of umpires, etc.

Among those present at the meeting yesterday were: E. L. Willett, Claude Watkins, President Thomas Russell, and Dr. J. H. Hutchings, of Maysville; J. S. Linehan, J. S. Basket, C. P. Lair, Dr. W. O. McIntire, Stanley Rees and Wood L. Taylor, of Cynthiana; J. A. Vallandigham and Woodson Moss, of Winchester; George M. Speakes and B. F. Goodman, of Paris; J. M. Lawrence and W. L. Thomason, of Mt. Sterling, and J. S. Morton, Howard Turner and Sam Amato of Lexington.

The Willys-Knight touring car now is listed at $1375, a further reduction of $150 since the 34 per cent. cut made last September. New prices are possible because of economies in manufacturing methods, officials said.

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR GOES ON TRIAL IN CELEBRATED CASE

Governor Len Small, of Illinois, Charged With Endeavoring to Cheat State Out of Thousands of Dollars Interest.

Waukegan, Ill., March 6. — Governor Len Small faced trial today on charges of conspiracy to embezzle state funds.

Small, the prosecution alleged, conspired to juggle millions in state funds in order to "pocket" interest that should have been turned into the exchequer of Illinois.

It is alleged Small conspired with Fred Sterling, lieutenant governor, and Verne Curtis, Grant Park banker, to steal the state's cash.

Millions were taken from the state treasury, the prosecution will seek to prove, and loaned to the Grant Park State Bank, of which Curtis is head, at 2 per cent. interest.

Curtis, according to the indictment, then loaned the money to Chicago packers at from 5 to 8 1/2 per cent. The difference in interest was to be kept by the three, according to the conspiracy allegations.

Truck loads full of evidence, to be used in the trial, jogged into Waukegan today. These included records of the state treasurer's office and books of Chicago packers and bankers.

The trial will cost the state close to $500,000, it is estimated.

Fifty veniremen reported for jury duty today. C. C. Le Forge, Small's chief counsel, and Fred Mortimer, chief prosecutor, agreed it would take several weeks to choose a jury.

Sterling will be tried at Springfield and Curtis at Waukegan after disposition of the Small case.

The governor has opened a temporary state "capital" at the Salvation Army here. There he has installed a staff to dispose of state business during the trial.

PROMINENT MASON FARMER SUCCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA

Mr. William R. Key Dle Saturday Evening after Only a Short Illness of Pneumonia.

Mr. William R. Key, prominent Mason county farmer, died at his home on the Hill City pike, near Washington Saturday evening at about 9:30 o'clock after a very short illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Key was taken ill in Maysville several days ago while on the local tobacco market, with chills. He returned to his home and since that time has been confined to his bed. He was taken very critically ill on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Key was born on April 15th, 1860, and was therefore in his 62nd year. He was an exemplary gentleman, held in the highest esteem by a great host of friends. One of the most clever gentlemen in Mason county, he made friends rapidly and held all he made.

He is survived by two daughters, Misses Mary and Lottie Payton, who made their home with their father, Circuit Clerk James B. Key, of this city is his only brother.

Funeral will be held from the home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and burial will be made in the Maysville cemetery.

JUDGE COCHRAN TO CALL COURT AT JACKSON, KY.

Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran will convene a session of the United States District Court Monday morning at Jackson, Ky. He will impanel a grand jury and two petit juries. It is said a large number of prohibition violations will be investigated.

The court calendar contains only a small number of civil cases to be tried. The following federal officers left Covington Sunday night to attend the court: Sawyer A. Smith, District Attorney; John W. Menzies, District Court Clerk, and Roy B. Williams, Marshal, who enters upon his first duties in this count.

COURT REFUSES JURISDICTION IN MOONSHINING CASE

City Judge Curran Acts as Examining Court Only in Moonshine Case Al-though Lawyer Contended the Court Has Authority.

Maggie Robinson, colored, whose home in Elizabeth street was raided by local police on last Thursday night and a complete moonshine outfit was discovered, was given a re-trial in City Court by Judge Harry C. Curran Monday afternoon and held for the next session of the Mason county grand jury. The fall was reduced from $1,000 to $750 but in default of this bail she was returned to jail.

The alleged woman moonshiner was represented by Attorney A. D. Cole, who maintained in the opening of the court that the prohibition statute of Kentucky gave the city court final jurisdiction in such cases. Judge Curran disagreed with him and ruled that he would hear the case only as an examining court.

On the witness stand the defendant said the still found at her home was not her still but belong to a John Morton. She said she did not rent the property in which it was found and had nothing whatever to do with the setting up or operating of the whisky factory.

JUDGE LANDIS.

The resignation of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis from the federal district bench, where he has served so ably, although spectacularly, for the past seventeen years, will come as a surprise to the general public with whom Judge Landis is so popular.

It probably is not exaggeration to say that no judge in the history of the country ever succeeded in gaining the general respect and admiration of the people to a greater extent than has Judge Landis. They know him for what he is—a fearless, incorruptible and just judge.

While the methods of Judge Landis on the bench have met with severe criticism at times we believe that he has performed a real service to the country and to the courts in bringing our judicial system a little closer to the people and in demonstrating that judges are human beings after all. True, his methods should not serve as an example perhaps to other jurists, but in his own case they have been justified by results.

Undoubtedly Judge Landis has made a wise decision in resigning from the bench. He has been under constant criticism since he accepted the place of supreme arbiter of baseball almost two years ago and it must be admitted that much of this criticism has been justified, although inspired in many instances by enemies Judge Landis has made through his judicial decisions. It is not desirable that our federal judges should have outside duties of this kind and it is more than probable that congress will pass a law that will prevent such outside interests in the future.

It is proof, however, of the true greatness of Judge Landis that this criticism has not diminished his prestige or popularity as a judge. He is a fighter for all things American and his unique abilities can and should be utilized for the public welfare when he retires from the federal bench. It is our prediction that Kenesaw Mountain Landis will be heard from in matters other than those relating to baseball.

OUR IMPORTED LECTURERS.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that unless some form of restriction is placed upon foreign lecturers who come to this country, ostensibly for sentimental reasons but really for less praiseworthy motives, the American crop of lecturers faces the possibility of being relegated to cold storage. There is seemingly no limit to the foreign influx.

Every ship brings its quota of distinguished visitor-lecturers, who cross the Atlantic on the vehicle of their international reputations (no matter how obtained), deliver lectures in this country on divers subjects (it makes little difference what they talk about; people would rather see them smoke cigarettes than hear the Einstein theory expounded), and then recross to their homelands better off in body and purse for their experiences. They invariably return on the vehicle of American dollars, no matter what the vehicle or which they arrived. What they have lost in international reputation and prestige they have gained in worldly goods.

Being foreigners, they have that uncanny sticky palm to which American dollars have a peculiar attraction. They have as fell a strange magnetic appeal which the curiosity of Americans is unable to resist. The result is their lectures are well attended and their efforts quite naturally well compensated. And in the meantime American lecturers—those at least who are unable to make punitive expeditions to Europe—are compelled to take back seats. There is no market for American lecturers in America just now. The demand is for imported goods. And these same lecturers return home talking about "American dollar-chasers."—Omaha Bee.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—That the horse is holding his own in spite of the increased use of motors is the surprising condition revealed by the Census Bureau figures, just issued, which show that there is one horse for every house in the United States, while only one family in four can hope to have an automobile.

The horse census shows a total of 21,848,068 horses in the country, Iowa leading all other States with a total of 1,386,522; with Illinois a close second, Kansas third, then Texas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Missouri. Only six in every thousand horses, however, are pure-bred.

The government is giving practical assistance to farmers and breeders in improving the breed of American horses, through the Remount Service of the Army which, last year, supplied the use of 120 highly bred stallions purchased at a cost of $95,000, by Congressional appropriation. The number was further augmented through the donation of 85 pure-bred stallions valued conservatively at $250,000, by members of the American Remount Association.

This Association, an independent organization of owners, breeders and others interested in the breeding of better horses and mules, is actively working to effect the development of a larger supply of well-bred horses. To this end, the Association lends its support materially to all forms of mounted sports, such as horse-back riding, polo playing, racing, horse-shows, hunt-meets and state and county fairs, through the distribution of cups and cash prizes. It also watches legislative interests of breeders and owners, disseminates information on breeding and endeavors to encourage the commercial use of horses.

"While the number of horses in the country at present is sufficient and our draft stock unsurpassed, there is a woeful shortage of good horses," said A. A. Cederwald, secretary of the Association, here recently. "This is evident from the demand and the prices at which the best sell, while the inferior ones cannot be sold for what it has cost to raise them."

"This is the age of efficiency in everything and this applies as strongly to the horse as to anything else. The demand is for the horse that can do the job efficiently and economically, pulling a heavy load or working under the saddle. If one is breeding draft horses, he should produce the best draft horses possible, and if breeding riding horses, he should produce the best riding horses possible."

"The production of the high-class riding horse is of paramount importance at the present time on account of the dearth of such horses in this country. If an emergency should arise, the problem of obtaining horses to mount our Army would be one of the most serious problems confronting purchasing officers."

"Agents are continually scouring the country for saddle horses for park and show-ring use, for cross country work and for polo mounts, and cattle ranchers are having serious difficulty in finding suitable horses for their cow-boys."

"The only solution for both the Army and commercial demands is the production of the right kind of animals for these various kinds of work, all of which demand the highest type of riding horses. To produce this kind requires the utmost care in the selection of both stallion and brood mares. The Remount Service is supplying a limited number of the right kind of stallions to communities suited to the production of the riding horse and the selection of the mares to be bred to these stallions should receive the greatest consideration."

Furniture casters are now made of compressor leather.

SEASONAL TIPS FOR GARDENERS

Since they mature quickest and can stand more cold weather, the small, round, olive-shaped types of radishes are best to plant early in the spring. Scarlet Globe and French Breakfast are good varieties.

White Queen onion sets usually can be put into the field about March 20. Frequent, shallow cultivation will be necessary since onions are easily choked by weed that rob soil of the moisture which is necessary for good onions.

Parsley is one of the best plants to help make food look its best when served. A ten foot row planted during the latter part of March will furnish sufficient garnishing for the average family. Parsley seeds are slow growing, requiring about ten days to two weeks in which to come through the soil. Moss Curled is said to be the best variety.

Eclipse, Crosby's Egyptian and Detroit Dark Red are good varieties of beets, the seed of which can be sown after the middle of March. Since the seed is slow maturing, it is best to mark the row by sowing a few radish seeds in it so that the soil crust can be broken to help the young plants through. The plants should be thinned when they are about two inches high to a distance of three or four inches apart.

Since all vegetables make rapid growth which requires large amounts of moisture, much of the garden's success depends upon frequent, shallow cultivation to conserve soil moisture and keep down weeds, garden specialists at the College of Agriculture say.

Community breeding by means of the co-operative sire association often is the best and cheapest way to make outstanding permanent improvement in the dairy herd.—J. C. McDowell.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Read what a Maysville citizen says: Mrs. William Farley, 128 East Second street, says: "Not long ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me a world of good. I am pleased to recommend them. My back hurt nearly all the time and I couldn't do my washing on account of the misery in my back. I couldn't sleep at night and mornings I could get up feeling all right. I would be dizzy and could see black specks before my eyes. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. My hands and arms would get numb and cold. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised so I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box. I began using them and was soon rid of the trouble."

REMEMBERS WHEN

"LOTTERY LIGHTNING"

STRUCK MT. OLIVET.

Interesting Letter From C. C. Kirk
About Louisiana Lottery and the Building of Mt. Olivet
Hotel.

"To the Editor:

"In a recent issue of The Public Ledger, under a Paris, Ky., date line, I read that a man named Bettis had died in utmost penury and want, after having won a dollar ticket in the Louisiana Lottery thirty years ago, and won fifteen thousand dollars.

"In the interest of historical accuracy, I wish to state that there was no 'Louisiana Lottery' in 1892; it had been barred years before. The true story of the first and last time 'Lottery Lightning' struck Mount Olivet, I will now give.

"I was 'persona grata' with those who played the fickle goddess in all her moods, and, undismayed by loss, would return to her embrace with alacrity and a 'stake.' Charles Strawder, brother of George Strawder, the colored barber, of blessed memory, was a baggage man on one of the many steamboats which plied upon the placid waters of the Ohio River and in that capacity, met with a great number of people who were not averse to casting their 'crumbs' in the lap of 'chance.' The period of which I write was previous to the coming of the C. & O. Railway; all the tobacco from nearby towns and warehouses was hauled to Maysville by wagon, and when a round number of high-headers had been shipped to the Cincinnati market, the owners of this tobacco would go that they might be on the breaks when the propitious time to sell arrived.

"Strawder on this trip had only a fractional ticket left and meeting a Mr. McDowell induced him to buy it. The Louisiana Hotel, which he built with the proceeds of his 'split ticket' is standing there on the Main street of the capital of Robertson county, unless it has succumbed to the inroads of decay, or to the ravages of fire. I dare say Judge Kenton, now of Maysville, can corroborate my statement. Though I may be in error in the matter, the Hazy Halls of Memory fail me but seldom. I vividly recall the loss of the 'Magnolia' by fire, a short distance below Maysville when Miss Ritta French, sister of 'Dim' French, was lost.

IMMEDIATE SPRAY NEEDED TO GET PEACH LEAF CURL.

Lexington, Ky., March 3.—Immediate sprayings with the standard dormant application of lime sulphur are necessary if the peach leaf curl, recognized as one of the most serious diseases of peach trees in the State, is to be controlled during the coming season, according to orchard specialists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. If the spray is delayed until after the buds swell, complete control of the disease cannot be obtained. In many seasons, the disease destroys almost all unsprayed fruit, not only causing it to drop but also weakening the tree, the specialists say.

BERNARD SHAW

IS OFF ON BEER

Engages in Wordy Battle With Gilbert Chesterton on Merits of Prohibition in United Kingdom.

London. — Beer is the bone of contention in a battle of words raging between George Bernard Shaw and G. K. Chesterton in the British press.

"On the whole I am a pro-Pussy-foot," declared George Bernard Shaw on being queried as to whether he opposed prohibition. "If a natural choice between drunkenness and sobriety were possible in our civilization, I should leave the people free to choose. But when I see an enormous capitalist organization pushing drink under people's noses at every corner and pocketing the price whilst leaving me and others to pay the colossal damages then I am prepared to smash that organization and make it as easy for a poor man to be sober if he wants to as it is for his dog."

This statement caused G. K. Chesterton to rise in his wrath. "What Mr. Shaw has to say is exactly typical of the whole blunder about those things," retorted Chesterton. "He actually mentions the truth and then misses it. The evils from which people suffer spring from the fundamental evil that property, which should be normal to the ordinary citizen, has become something which a few people possess and most people don't."

"When people's brains are tired as they are now, it is very much easier to look at the symptoms than at the cause. They say therefore, that if we abolish the public house a lot of those evils would not occur; just as when the evil has become so bad that people go out, as they soon may, with bricks and stones and kill other people, it may be said that if we were to abolish bricks and stones there would be no riots."

"When people are not in the mood for going to the roots of things they then exclaim: 'Cut off all these ugly branches.'"

"For that matter it would be easy enough to represent that the capitalist is not all on the side of beer."

"It is perfectly indefensible that they should be in judicial positions at all in the matter of licensing hours."

While this merry little war goes on between two distinguished gentlemen of Britain's literary set, the buxom barmaids continue to pour the amber fluid.

HART CATTLE FEEDERS GET POINTERS ON TOUR

Horse Cave, Ky., March 4.—As a result of a recent inspection tour taken by Hart county farmers to feed lots of beef cattle men who are cooperating with the College of Agriculture extension division in demonstrating the best methods of handling and feeding cattle, many of the feeders in this section of the State discovered that they were feeding about twice the amount of cottonseed meal necessary, thereby increasing their costs of gains about 25 per cent., according to J. S. Pullen, county agent. Some of them were feeding as high as eight pounds of the meal a day to each steer when four pounds would have been sufficient.

Twelve feeders accompanied by Wayland Roads, beef cattle specialist from the college, made the trip to eight farms where the practical points of the various feeding methods were pointed out to them.

TEACH THRIFT TO CHILDREN SAYS POSTMASTER GENERAL.

In a telegram to Mr. J. A. Goddell, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, in charge of the activities of the National Thrift Week, January 17 to 23, inclusive, Postmaster General Will H. Hays said:

"I deeply regret my inability to greet in person the National Thrift Week Committee. I am an enthusiastic advocate of the teaching of thrift and the encouragement of savings and investments in thoroughly reliable and trustworthy securities. Thrift is all powerful. The education of children in France in years past to be thrifty unquestionably saved that country from bankruptcy. Let us all join efforts to encourage thrift and savings not only among the toilers of today but to instill it in the children who will be the citizens and business men of tomorrow and this will help to make economy and thrift a national trait. The Government is developing thrift and savings through Postal Savings deposits and the sale of Treasury Savings securities. It is my purpose to cooperate wholeheartedly with your committee in spreading the gospel of thrift. Please keep me informed of the development of your plans and of any manner in which I can assist."

WAYNE FARMERS REPLACE SCRUBS WITH PUREBREDS

Monticello, Ky., March 4.—Plans of interested farmers, livestock breeders and the extension division of the College of Agriculture to eliminate scrub breeding animals from Wayne county were given a boost here recently with the sale of 11 purebred sires to farmers of the county in an auction promoted by the Wayne County Cattle Breeding Association. The animals, which were sold at prices not exceeding $100, will be used to grade up the herds of their owners.

Believing that such sales are a practical way in which to rid the county of inferior beef animals, local livestock breeders and interested farmers will promote another one next year, according to a report. The sale held here will be followed by others in different parts of the State, according to Wayland Roads, beef cattle specialist of the college.

LACK OF SPRAYS YIELDS PECKS FRUIT WILDS TO PECKS

Lexington, Ky., March 4.—Failure of farmers to check the ravage of insect pests by spraying at the proper time of the year is one of the several main causes for the low average production of peach and apple trees in Kentucky, according to experienced fruit men. The latest census reports the average production of bearing apple trees as slightly more than one bearing apple tree as slightly more than one and one-fourth pecks and that of bearing peach trees as a little more than one peck. San Jose scale and peach leaf curl are the particular pests demanding attention at this time of the year, according to the fruit men.

According to the latest census, Kentucky had 3,472,936 apple trees of bearing age that produced only 1,280,549 bushels of fruit while her 1,671,044 peach trees of bearing age yielded 459,681 bushels of fruit. While several other conditions, such as soil and climatic ones, contributed toward reducing the average yield of each apple tree in the State to a little more than 1.36 pecks and that of each peach tree to 1.1 pecks, destruction by insects is the particular problem that should receive attention now in remedying the situation, the fruit men say.

Apple trees should be sprayed with a dormant spray of commercial lime sulphur using one part of the material to eight or ten of water in order to control San Jose scale, according to orchardists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Since it is important that this pest be controlled before the leaves begin to appear, it is essential that the spray be applied as soon as weather conditions permit.

Spraying peach trees with self-boiled lime sulphur composed of 15 pounds of lime, 15 pounds of sulphur and 50 gallons of water controls both the San Jose scale and peach leaf curl, according to the station men. In order to help farmers of the State with their spraying problems this spring, the station, which is located at Lexington, is sending out spray schedules and directions for mixing sprays to those who request them.

LOCAL FRUIT DEALER MAKES ASSIGNMENT

George James, Local Fruit Merchant, Files Deed of Assignment to the Equitable Trust Company.

George James, local fruit dealer, filed a deed of assignment in the Mason County Court Monday afternoon to the Equitable Trust Company. No schedule of liabilities were filed nor are the assets listed but it is understood that the liabilities will run close to three thousand dollars while the assets are small. Appraisers will be immediately appointed to list the stock, which is practically all of the assets.

It has been known for some time that James was in bad financial condition but he has made a desperate effort to clear himself without resorting to assignment.

The stock consists entirely of fruits, candles, cigars, tobacco and smokers' supplies. The business is located in the old Whitehall hotel lobby in Second street. James is a Greek who came to Maysville several years ago and engaged in the shoe shining business for several years before entering the fruit business.

COMMITTEE SUCCEEDS IN SAVING COUNTY TAX RAISE.

The Mason county committee which appeared before the State Tax Commission recently to protest against the proposed increase in Mason county's tax assessment was quite successful. They were able to have the assessment increase of $1,100,000 tentatively fixed on farm lands reduced to one million dollars. The tentative figure of $250,000 increase on town lots was reduced to $125,000 and the tangible property other than live stock stock which was to have been raised one million dollars was reduced to $250,000 increase.

Miss Mamie Archdeason, of Merz Brothers' store, fell Saturday and suffered a slight fracture of her right wrist.

HOLD "EASY DEGREE" UNIVERSITY FOUNDER

Postal Regulations Violated, Is the Charge; Investigation Promises To Be Thorough.

Washington. — The State Department has received scores of letter from foreign governments asking for some official information on the standing of the Oriental University and telling of the apparent ease with which its diplomas were obtainable in their countries.

The "university" has been in operation for 17 years under a Virginia charter. The authorities were advised that the founder, Helmut P. Holler, had advertised the property for sale and was about to go to Europe. He was arrested and taken before United States Commissioner Hitt on a charge of violation of postal regulations and held in $3,000 bail for a further hearing.

Government authorities are alive to the danger to long established institutions of learning, in the continued existence of "universities" whose requirements for a "degree" are largely monetary. The right to use Ph. D., D. Sc., of B. A. after a name comes from long, hard study and a successful passing of difficult examinations. The words of business, religion, science and art recognize these and similar abbreviations as indicative of certain qualifications and attributes in their owners. If the or similar "degrees" can be obtained by anyone with the price, they will no longer possess any value. Hence the present investigation, which it is promised is but the first of several.

Mr. George Royle leaves Monday on a several days' business trip to Bath and Rowan counties in the interest of his company.

Miss Hattie Rose Selsor, of East Second street, who has been very ill with influenza, is somewhat improved.
